Mrs. Eliza Craver, formerly Miss Elkin, now of Madison, Mo., is here with relatives.

The reduction of the price of the INTERIOR JOURNAL to $1 per year is regarded as a great sacrifice, since the subscribers are glad to get it at $2.

The statement in the Times that Goebel will carry Garrard county, is not believed here, especially if the farmers come out, in which event it is believed that Hardin or Stone will get the instruction.

There is a strong feeling here to make opposition to trusts and protective tariff the principal political issues in the coming campaign, and this should be done as they are the people's greatest enemies.

Rumor has it that Jack Chinn would be Goebel's adjutant general and that Capt. T. A. Elkin wants to hold the same office under Stone, if he is elected. How far these reports will contribute to the election of either remains to be seen. Hardin stock will go up as he has made no promises.

People are forgetful of the fact that the human system is only a piece of machinery, delicate in construction, and that sleep and rest are necessary to prolong life. Some live two days in one and become old people at an early age. Late hours at night destroy vitality and the person who sleeps eight hours will live much longer than the one who sleeps four hours. It is altogether proper to retire not later than 10 o'clock and to arise at six.

Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Harris, of your county, were here Thursday. Rev. H. N. Fawcett is at home after a very successful evangelistic tour. Lieut. J. M. Parra was complimented by a lady after rendering a solo at the Christian church, the lady remarking that she wanted him to sing at her funeral. The lieutenant in recognizing the compliment, said: "Thank you madam, I will be pleased to do so at any time."

The meetings closed at the Christian church today, Thursday, after doing much good. Eld. Lloyd tells the people plainly of their sins and some grumble about it, but they smile again when something is said about their neighbors. His style is aggressive, somewhat like that of Sam Jones, while that of Eld. E. L. Powell was more persuasive, holding up the God of love and mercy in a style very much similar to that of Rev. George O. Barnes.

Capt. Stone had a good audience on Monday and he made a good impression. Senator Harris introduced him in a few well chosen remarks, referring to his past life in a very touching manner and paying him a high and a deserving tribute. Mr. Stone proved to be sound on national and State issues and an able advocate of the true principles of democracy. He showed his manhood in declining to make any unkind reference to Judge Hargis, who was wounded in the same engagement in which he lost a limb, although the judge made an unwarranted thrust at him. The pathetic mention of his suffering after his wounds and the ministrations of the lady who subsequently became his wife, called forth tears from those who were not accustomed to weeping. The frequent applause showed that he has many friends here.

A large crowd came to town Tuesday to take part in the decoration day ceremonies. The unfurling of flags, the distribution of flowers on the graves of the departed and the outpouring of pathetic eloquence evinced the patriotism of our people and the love for their fallen heroes. Each flower was offered as a word, a token or a whisper of remembrance of brilliant achievements. The crowd gathered in the court-house at 2 P. M. The Lancaster band dispensed appropriate music and Hon. Fletcher Oswald delivered an address full of patriotism, replete with history and events which cause the dead to live in our memory, the blue and the gray alike, receiving appropriate mention. The band then led a long line of Federal and Confederate veterans to the cemetery, where flowers were distributed.

DR. KNEE'S IRON NERVE

CAPT. W. J. STONE

MAKES A FINE SPEECH AND LAUREL'S HAIRDIN.

Every seat in the court house was filled Tuesday afternoon when Capt. W. J. Stone, the one-legged Confederate veteran, entered on crutches amid great applause. He was introduced by Judge Stanley and began his speech of an hour and 10 minutes by saying he was glad to meet and become acquainted with the people of this part of the State and to give them his views on the issues of the day. The people are sovereign and they had a right to know how those who offered for their suffrages stand on every question. They are entitled to the best material and the best service that can be rendered and it is their duty to select men for offices, who will make it the one object of their terms to labor solely for the public good and see that the affairs of government are conducted in the most economical manner consistent with its object.

The speaker declared he was a democrat, not because it was popular to be so, but from principle and because he believed that the greatest good and the fullest happiness and prosperity was possible under a democratic administration. He then contrasted the salient principles of the two leading parties, the one standing for lower taxation and the government by the people for the people and the other for the classes against the masses, making trusts and combines possible, to rob the people, as every tendency now is. A review of the history of the passage of the McKinley tariff bill, then of the Wilson bill and finally the Dingley bill was given and it was shown that although the tariff now was the highest that ever oppressed a people it was still inadequate for the expenses of the government, because of its protective features, which practically shut out competition from abroad and legislated money into the pockets of a favored few, who controlled the principal articles of necessity in this country.

The gold standard is responsible for many of the ills of our body politic also and ought not to prevail. The democratic party stands for bimetallism and the coinage of both gold and silver at a fixed ratio and has since Jefferson, the great founder of the party, laid down the plan and principle of metallic money. Every democratic convention since, that considered the subject, has endorsed the free coinage of both metals and yet we have the spectacle of a candidate for governor strutting around and calling the cause of silver "My Cause" and would make you believe that it would go down forever, if he fails to get the nomination he seeks.

Dwelling a while on the history of the silver dollar and its treatment by the republican party, he said that no silver dollars were being coined now, except from bullion bought under the Sherman law. With our increasing population, the amount of money should be increased both by the use of both metals as money, and a credit money, redeemable in either, the combined gold and silver being inadequate for the uses of trade. He showed that to make the silver dollar of the full debt paying value as a gold dollar would not make it a dishonest dollar, as claimed by the gold adherents. For 50 years gold and silver had circulated side by side and the 75,000,000 people of the United States could make it do so now without the aid or consent of any nation. We have recently shown that we can take care of ourselves on land and sea and we are as fully as able to take care of our financial affairs.

Reverting to State affairs, Capt. Stone said that he was for the greatest improvement possible in the common school system so that every child could get an education to fit him for all the duties of life, that he opposed the book trust, and would do all in his power, if elected, to suppress it.

While a member of the Legislature in 1881, he had procured the passage of a bill to give more prison room for convicts and take them out of competition with the miner, the railroad laborer and the farmer, and he was for working them to the point of being self sustaining, making their labor, if it has to come in competition with free labor, to compete less with that class which has to work hardest for a living. The 1st congressional district, from which he had the honor to hail, had always been democratic and had always helped democrats from other portions of the State to be elected. It now thought that it might ask for one of the better offices and if its candidate is worthy to discharge its duties to let him win on his own merits. The democratic party owed him nothing nor in fact does it owe any man anything, but he owes the party everything and every member should give it his full allegiance. He asked it as a favor of the party to let him serve it and would put forth every effort to win, for he believed that Kentucky's fine showing would have great effect in the result next year and insure the election of William Jennings Bryan beyond a doubt.

When he first announced for governor

the newspaper friends of the other candidates said he was a good man, but wasn't in the race. Editors know everything, you know, and they are awfully clever, so he had no fight with them. But when it was found that he was in the race, it was begun to be whispered around at first, he knew not by whose friends, that "Bill Stone isn't a good free silver man" and again that "Bill Stone had voted for gold bonds." At Winchester he took occasion to denounce these reports and say that he would withdraw from the race if either could be proven. Imagine his surprise, when "L. Watsling Harding" jumped up at Shelbyville and tried to prove from the Congressional Record that he had voted for gold bonds, when the fact was the record showed he had voted against them every time the question came up, though he had on two occasions voted to advance bills to the 3rd reading so as to kill them for good. He was in Congress and making speeches for free silver before the great Apostle Hardin ever dreamed of it becoming an issue. When he proved the falsity of Hardin's charge they began to cry and say, "Stone has two records."

But speaking of records, somebody else has a record. He has a record for running for office for 28 years or long before three-fourths of this audience were voters. He had been elected for three terms on the tail of the ticket, but when he was placed at its head he led it to ignominious defeat.

But Hardin has a still further record. He organized the convention in 1895, elected Judge Beckner, a gold standard man, chairman, who placed Senator Lindsay, another gold standard man, who was not a delegate, on the committee on resolutions from the State at large, over the protests of Blackburn, Rhea and other free silver men, and when the committee reported for the gold standard and an endorsement of Mr. Cleveland, Mercer county, the delegation composed of a brother and the personal friends of Hardin, and presumably expressing his views, voted to adopt the resolution. When the free silver men begged Hardin to decline to accept the nomination for governor on the platform, he said, "Get behind me, satan," and walked out on the platform and accepted it. He afterwards repudiated the platform and we all know the rest. And yet he tells you that he was "blazing the way to the Chicago platform" and had his name signed to it before you ever saw it.

In order to defeat him the Hardin people had trotted out various and sundry men supposed to be leaders to defame him, including Judge Hargis, a Confederate soldier, but he said nothing could make him descend so low as to injure a man who wore the gray uniform and lost a limb for the cause he loved. Then they put up Judge Heckner to tell his little tale. "Do you know Heckner? If not, he can best be described to you in the language of the lamented Senator Heck, who said, 'I saw 20 pictures of Judas Iscariot, when in the old world, no two of which were alike, but all looked like Bill Heckner.'" The beautiful pictures that Hardin has had scattered over the State, making him the great lion and Bryan and Blackburn, very small fry, was with the object to deceive the unwary and make them believe he was the sole candidate of these great leaders.

It had been asked him why he did not go for Goebel and he answered, "Because Goebel has treated me like a gentleman. The same relations might have existed between Hardin and myself had he not tried to pull me down to build up himself. I was driven to the necessity of showing him up and telling of his wobbles in and out while 'blazing the way to the Chicago platform.'"

The speaker enumerated several reasons why he wanted to be governor, one of them being that he might help the struggling young men of the State. He told how he had done so while in Congress and of the records that some of his beneficiaries had made in peace and war. "I want to see the 1st district find favor at last and a farmer honored. He had been accused of demagoguery in telling that he was a farmer, but he simply told the truth and was glad that he was a farmer. They had received him with bony handed welcome on his return from the war and had ever since been his friends. Then some newspapers said he was seeking sympathy, when he told that he had served three years on the field and spent one year in the hospital for the cause of the South. He needed no sympathy and wanted none. He only did his duty and when he died he would want no greater epitaph than that he always did his duty as he saw it and was willing to die for what he believed to be right.

There was another reason that he wanted to be governor. In June, 1864, a bloodless death wound, and he lay upon the field with his life blood ebbing away. There was nothing but darkness and death before him. But the soft hand of a lovely girl stayed the blood flow and in the hospital nursed him back to recovery and hope. He returned to Lyon county after the war and with the first money he made he sought the young woman at her home. For over 30 years, she has been a loving and true wife to him and he was sentimental enough now in the evening of her life to wish to lay the tribute of his fellow citizens at her feet and tell her that the poor soldier she had nursed to life and health had been chosen to be governor of his native State. Great applause almost drowned the speaker's appeal from Lincoln county democrats to help him realize his ambition, but he saw from the demonstrations that nearly every man present had determined to help to that end.

MISS TEVIS CARPENTER.

This beautiful young lady will represent Stanford in the elocutionary contest to be held at the Opera House, June 10. She is a graduate of the Stanford Female College and has just returned from the Madison Institute, where she took a special course in music and elocution, her favorite studies and in which nature seems to have fitted her to excel. She is a most charming elocutionist and if she does not win further honors in "A Set of Turquois," her admirers will be greatly disappointed.

That Capt. Stone has a large following in this county there can be no doubt and that he added to his list of friends is equally as true. The feeling against Hardin was shown by the applause and demonstrations of delight that followed every point made against the chronic office seeker, who has asked the democrats, we opine, once too often for their support. They think it time that somebody else was given a chance and if this county does not instruct against him all signs go for naught.

MISS SASSEEN SPEAKS.

At the conclusion of Capt. Stone's speech, Hon. R. C. Warren introduced Miss Mary Towles Sasseen, of Henderson, candidate for superintendent of public instruction. He said she had never scratched a democratic ticket nor had the opportunity to lose a limb at San Juan or the Philippines, but she was as patriotic and willing to serve her country as anybody. Miss Sasseen then in a very lady like way told how she had served 16 years in the school room and how she had made the subject of popular education a life study. She had addressed 12,000 people on educational subjects, but this was the first time she had asked for favors for herself. Any old thing, she said, would do for governor, but a good school superintendent was indispensable. Her appeal for help from this county may not be in vain, as she very favorably impressed a large number who heard her speak and met hereafterwards. Miss Sasseen is a grand daughter of the late Archibald Dixon and a cousin of Gov. John Young Brown's wife.

THE INTERIOR JOURNAL

STANFORD, KY., - JUNE 2, 1899

W. P. WALTON.

THE INTERIOR JOURNAL, while favoring Goebel and opposing Hardin, has nothing but the kindest feelings for Capt. Stone in his ambition to be governor of Kentucky. He is a man every inch of him and but for the fact that he came out late, after many were pledged, he would have a greater following than he has. That he has fought the battles of life as successfully as he has, handicapped as he is, shows him to be of no ordinary material. He is a man of convictions, with courage to maintain them even unto death, and has demonstrated in every phase of life that he can be trusted. He made a glorious record in war and has eclipsed it even in peace, and if he is nominated, he will find no warmer supporter than we, who are the son of a Confederate soldier and who love the grand old fellows, who bared their breasts and risked their lives for the cause they loved. We believe, however, that the Covington statesman is the strongest man and as issues that he has forced will necessarily be the leading ones in the coming campaign, that he can better and more ably maintain them.

ANOTHER row and a rumus is on at Louisville. When the democratic State executive committee met in Lexington in March, the committee by resolution authorized John W. Vreeland, the Louisville member of the committee, to make arrangements for the hall and for the tickets and badges for the convention to hold there. Mr. Vreeland, acting upon the authority, rented Music Hall. As Mr. Vreeland is a Goebel man, the opposition to Goebel charges him with plotting to pack the hall. Chairman Johnston has repudiated Vreeland's action and has rented Macaulay's theatre for the convention, which is not half large enough. He says that the executive committee had no right to interfere in matters purely the province of the Central Committee and that he does not intend that it shall do it. There is always something for the democrats to fuss over and they seem never to miss an opportunity to do so.

THE denunciatory resolutions passed by the Lebanon convention against Commissioner of Agriculture Lucas Moore, has stirred that worthy up and he threatens to institute suit for criminal libel against the ringsters who had them adopted. He is also very hot in the collar with Candidate Taylor, whom he holds responsible for the outrageous attack, because he has been charged with connivance at it and has not entered a disclaimer. Moore and his friends have accordingly whetted their knives for the attorney general and will go in to defeat his nomination, which they say would loose the republican party 25,000 votes.

A LEADING republican, who keeps his weather eye open, tells the Lexington Leader after having been over the Eighth district that it will instruct as follows: For Hardin—Mercer, 9; Spencer, 5; Anderson, 4; Jessamine, 7; total 27. For Goebel—Shelby, 13; Garrard, 4; Lincoln, 8; total, 27. Rockcastle in doubt; either for Goebel or Hardin. Boyle and Madison 14, no instructions. Whoever the fellow is he seems to have sized up things pretty well.

THE Commercial Convention at Louisville seems to have been a great success. Many able papers were read and much done that will prove of lasting interest to the State, unless it is allowed to pass off as wind. A number of resolutions were adopted including one urging an amendment to the State Constitution to meet the difficulties of the tax system and a committee of 15 will present it to the governor and Legislature.

THERE never was such an improvement in the looks of a paper as has been made in the Paris Kentuckian-Citizen. It is now an eight column folio, with its two editions uniform in size, and printed from clear, new type. Col. Craddock seems to have taken on a new lease of life by injecting a young man, Bruce Miller, into the management.

It is said that Senator Hanna favors Nash in the contest for the republican nomination for governor in Ohio. It is so, it will doubtless be Nash, as Hanna will, as usual, use a money argument on that portion of the party which he doesn't carry in his inside pocket.

THE Louisville Dispatch had a picture Wednesday of Green Keller, candidate for secretary of State, standing on his head; taken doubtless when the clever old fellow was doing a double somersault in jubilation of his prospects of having his ambition gratified.

Democracy trotted a mile in 2:13 at Norfolk the other day. It is the fastest time ever made in a race in May. This must be a democratic year.

THE 3rd annual convention of the Ohio Valley Bimetallite Clubs, held in Louisville, was a big occasion. President Tarvin presided and made a speech in which he said that the Chicago platform was not written for one year, but for all time or until the questions are settled. Gov. Altgeld spoke on his favorite subject, that against government by injunction, and also took a whack at trusts. Other distinguished speakers held the platform the first day and at the banquet that night, the party's ablest exponent, Col. W. J. Bryan, responded to the toast "Democracy" and as usual set the boys wild with enthusiasm. The three candidates for governor spoke yesterday, but neither alluded to the other or spoke of his own candidacy. Goebel seems to have had the crowd, for while all were liberally applauded, the applause for him was terrific. Mr. Bryan went to Mammoth Cave to join his wife, but will return in time today to fill his appointment to speak at the Fountain Ferry Park banquet. The democracy all over the country is becoming aroused and determined to elect Bryan next time by an overwhelming majority.

A REPUBLICAN, mighty close to Bradley, says that if Taylor is nominated for governor there will be no use in that party making an effort to carry the State as it has the opportunity to do it if deliberates and acts sensibly. Taylor was a greenbacker and free silver man, facts not brought out before on account of his obscurity, but since he has attracted some attention by his stupidity they will come out this time. The same person says that the governor will not help Taylor, and without his assistance he can not be nominated. The governor knows what an ignoramus Taylor is and that he could not pass a civil service examination to be a gauger, much less if one was required to be governor.

SENATOR GOEBEL warmed up to his work at Bedford and went for the alleged democratic organ at Louisville and its candidate Mr. Hardin. He showed the dastardly nature of the publications against him and coupled Hardin's name with that of Dick Tate, his personal and political friend and official associate, in a way that the attorney general, who carries his law office in his hat, must despise. By the way has anybody heard of Hardin representing the charge of infamously falsifying made against himself weeks ago by Mr. Goebel?

John Taylor, aged 18, who was to have been tried at the August term of circuit court for the murder of Wm. Lee, was shot and killed from ambush in Harlan county.

A New York couple, whose ages aggregate 180 years, filled up on love's young dream and eloped the other day. There is understood to have been parental objections.

The court of appeals reversed the judgment of the lower court in Crech vs. Davis, the contested election case from Bell county. Crech was the independent republican candidate for county clerk against Davis, the regular nominee. The court holds there was not a fair election and neither candidate is entitled to the office.

The recent developments in the White-Baker feud, as well as the troubles growing out of the killing of A. C. Turner last Christmas, and the fact that Tom Baker, D. Baker and James Baker are under bond to appear before the circuit court to answer the charge of killing Wilson Howard and Bert Storrs, and shooting old man Hal Howard in April 1898, have determined the authorities to call on the governor for the State troops and it is said that he will send two companies at once.

HUBBLE.

J. J. Walker's bunch of lambs weighed 76 pounds for May delivery. Bro. C. H. Neal has given up his work with the Methodist church on account of other work, and his place will be filled by Bro. Clark, of Lancaster, who will preach here two Sunday afternoons in each month instead of mornings, as it has been heretofore. The best wishes of many good friends go with him in his new work. George Woods returned from the mountains Wednesday with 700 stock owes and lambs. Wheat in this community never looked less promising. Some hogs have changed hands here at 3.30.

LAND AND STOCK.

For sale, three sows and 24 shoats. E. H. Beazley.

Yearling bull, subject to register, for sale. Mark Hardin.

For sale, 90 acres of good land, either in one or two parcels. Address box 196.

W. H. Rout and Jones Baughman, of the West End, have in 85 acres of hemp.

The stallion, Voodoo, which once sold for $24,100, changed hands the other day at $70.

C. E. Gentry's Honest Run won a good race at Latonia Monday and ran third yesterday.

Charles Taylor, who is 93 years old, is driving a stable of horses at White River Junction, Vt.

J. C. Johnston, of Boyle, bought in the West End a lot of butcher cattle at 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 and some hogs at 3 1/2.

J. B. Emory, for Nelson Morris, of Chicago, has bought of Gentry Bros., of Boyle county, 150 export cattle at five cents.

The sale of the splendid Casey county farm of C. C. VanArsdale will occur at 10 o'clock Saturday. See "ad" and don't fail to attend.

"Haudit was bought by John E. Madden for $12,000 from W. C. Whitney, who paid Madden $25,000 for him last year. He will be put in the stud.

Bishop Hilber & Bro. had killed and crippled by dogs Sunday night, 76 fine Shropshire sheep, 31 killed outright. Loss $400. These sheep cost $7 and were killed by five hounds owned by a Negro near Ruddle's Mill. Three of the dogs were killed.—Paris Kentuckian.

A Shocking Reply.

"I called this evening, Miss Shock, to ask you to be my wife," said the suitor.

"I am sorry to say, my friend, that you have made a mistake in your calling," replied Miss Shock.—Tit-Bits.

PERSONAL AND SOCIETY GOSSIP.

ORLAND HICK is back from a term at Ashbury College.

HON. R. A. LACKY is visiting his daughter in Faye.

A. HENDERSON and Arthur Scott, of Mt. Vernon, are here today.

MRS. J. A. WRIGHT is back from a visit to her brother in Casey.

MRS. JAMES DEYERS, of Hustonville, has been the guest of Mrs. Lee Myers.

MISSER DORA and LULA BROWN, of Liberty, are visiting Miss Kate Wlieher.

MR. AND MRS. J. W. DAVIS, of Warren county, are visiting her mother at Hustonville.

MISS NELLIE MERRISON is back from a visit to Richmond, where she secured a school to open about July 1.

MISS ELIZABETH PICKETT, of Shelby, is with her sisters, Mrs. Will Severance and Miss Virginia Pickett.

A MIGHTY pretty girl has become our Hustonville correspondent and good letters may be expected, commencing next issue.

MISS ROBERTA LEWIS CASH was one of the 17 graduates of Hamilton this year, and yesterday returned home fully fledged for the duties of life.

J. W. DAVIS, a well-known educator, of Warren county, will be one of the principals of Central Christian College at Hustonville next session, having bought an interest in that institution.

MRS. W. R. COOK, of Garrard county, nee Miss Ellen Gwaley, is visiting Miss Mary Robertson. Miss Christine McGregor, of Louisville, is also her guest.—Elizabethtown News.

A HANDSOME picture of Miss Katie Lee Yeager, of Danville, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Felder, appears in the Atlanta Constitution. Mrs. Felder has given a number of beautiful entertainments in honor of her visitor.

JENNIE H. BEIN, who has made many friends during his stay here, has given up his position at Penny's Drug store and returned to Hustonville, where he will likely enter business. Will Embury is succeeding him for the present.

MISSER KATE, Edna, Catherine and Dora Haughman, who have been attending Hollins' Institute in Virginia, returned Tuesday afternoon. Miss Kate is the only graduate among them and she is said to have acquitted herself handsomely in the closing exercises.

CAPT. THOMAS A. DAVIS, who went into the Spanish war as lieutenant and was twice promoted, first to regimental adjutant and then to captain, with Sergeant J. Henry Jones, who was Capt. W. H. Penny's company clerk, are the guests of the captain at the St. Asaph.

MISS MARY P. HARRIS, who has been with her sister, Miss Maggie Harris, in the Stonewall Jackson Institute at Abingdon, Va., this session, sent us the program of the graduating recital to occur today, the numbers of which only a limber jawed Italian can pronounce.

PROF. E. L. GRUBBS is here canvassing for "The Illustrious Americans, Their Lives and Great Achievements," a large and intensely interesting book of many hundred pages, splendidly bound, and is meeting with much success. The book will prove a valuable addition to any library.

MISS GERTRUDE CARROLL, HOWARD remembers her friends here with invitations to the commencement exercises of Broadus Classical and Scientific Institute, Clarksburg, W. Va., which will occur June 7th. Miss Howard is at the head of the music department in which there are five graduates this year.

A MOVEMENT is on foot to have a 5th of July celebration here with speaking, fireworks, parades, etc.

A CARLOAD of wine barrel staves was shipped by Mitchell Taylor, of Middleburg, from McKinney to San Francisco the other day, the freight on which was $700.

$10 AND COSTS.—"Cal" Givens was fined $10 and costs in Squire W. A. Coffey's court yesterday for striking Tim Reynolds, also colored. He is laying out the fine in jail.

THE ice cream and strawberry supper given by the ladies of the Baptist church at Mr. H. K. Wearren's last night put $25 in the treasury of the aid society and furnished a pleasant hour for all who attended.

THE jury in the Mullins case at Mt. Vernon for the killing of Langford, returned yesterday, having hung, standing 9 for acquittal and three for two years. The members express themselves much pleased at their treatment in Rockcastle's capital.

THE shortest lived paper we have ever heard of is the Kentucky People, which issued four times and tucked its little toes under the daisies. Man's a vapor full of woes, starts a paper, up he goes. Any darn fool with a little money and some credit can start a paper, but keepin' her a gwine is the rub.

HARDIN The announcement is made that Mr. Hardin will speak here county court day, June 12, at 1:30 P. M., at Hustonville that night and at Waynesburg the 13th at 1:30. A big fight seems to be intended to get the county for him, but it is too late. The people have made up their minds to instruct for Gobel.

OUR readers will find in this issue the advertisement of James Frye, of Hustonville. Besides the W. L. Douglass shoe he prints the picture of, he has almost everything else in the general merchandise line and his prices are always as low if not lower than the lowest. Call on him and you will be sure to do so again and again.

WHEAT.—As harvest time approaches the wheat prospects in this county grow worse. Mr. John Bright, who reports to the agricultural department at Washington and who gets sub reports from all parts of the county, says the crop will only be 67 per cent. of an average, caused by the scant stand and the shortness of the heads.

THE Kentucky Standard, published at the Kentucky School for the Deaf at Danville by the pupils, has gotten out a most creditable pamphlet for the school, for a copy of which we are indebted to Mr. S. W. Menefee, clerk of the institution. The work is profusely illustrated and in the group of officers the two from this county, the one named and Miss Belle Root are easily recognizable.

THE firm of Hunn & Coffey, of Moreland, and Charlie Coffey, another son of Joseph Coffey, of that section, have bought the stock of goods of R. B. Edgington, at Milledgeville, and taken possession. The firm will be Coffey Bros. & Co. They are all clever young men and deserve the liberal patronage they are sure to get. Mr. Edgington has gone into the butcher business at Junction City.

THE GENTRIES.—N. T. Gentry, secretary of the Gentry Family Association of the United States, has called a meeting of the association to be held at Meramec Highlands, St. Louis county, Mo., August 1. A committee on invitation and reception consisting of 24 Missouri Gentries, has begun its work early in order to make the meeting a success. Mrs. Theodore Shelton, of St. Louis, is at the head of the committee, and N. T. Gentry, of Columbia, is secretary. Invitations are being sent to every Gentry in the world.

GOOSH.—After a long illness of liver trouble, Wm. Goosh died at his home in the Goshen neighborhood, Tuesday at 10 o'clock aged 85 years. His father came here from Virginia some 80 years ago and it was from him and those who came with him that the large family of the name in this county sprung. Deceased was always a good, substantial citizen and a money maker, his estate being estimated at from $40,000 to $75,000 after raising 13 children. He was twice married, first to Miss Perkins, who bore him 12 children, six of whom are married: Hilbura, Will, John and Dave, Mrs. W. M. Matheny and Mrs. Tim Duldner. The single ones are Craig, Andrew, Albert, Annie and Kittie. One died a few years ago. The second wife was Miss Thompson and she with one child, Mary, survives. The funeral occurred at Goshen Wednesday afternoon in the presence of a large crowd of friends, Eld. J. G. Livingston officiating and delivering a most appropriate sermon.

SUMMER time has come, but we have the consolation of knowing that it can not be hotter than the most of May has been. Showers continue and the crops are spreading themselves.

THERE will be an art reception at the College Monday evening, 5th, from 7:30 to 10 o'clock and Miss Hubbard, who presides over the department, extends a cordial invitation for everybody to attend.

DEMOCRATS should bear in mind that precinct meetings will be held on the afternoon of the 10th to send delegates to a convention to be held here county court day to nominate a candidate for representative.

NEWS comes from London that about 7 P. M., yesterday, Dr. A. C. Foster, who was a witness in the Wilson case, called Judge Brown, one of the prosecuting attorneys, to account for his remarks made concerning his testimony. After a heated argument Dr. Foster called the judge a "lying a-- of b" and slapped him in the face. Judge Brown walked away without a remark.

THEY are preparing for war in Clay county next week, when the Baker will be called for trial. Geo. Philpot, a prominent citizen of that county, says that war-like preparations are quietly being made and that three boxes of Winchester and ammunition were shipped from Louisville to a Manchester firm, being put off at London, East Horns and Pittsburg to avoid suspicion. The soldiers will likely take a hand, however, in any fight that may arise out of the White Baker feud.

THE Academy will close today without any flourish of trumpets or blowing of horns. Prof. W. J. Craig will simply shut up shop for the session and for good, as he has decided to go to college again himself. The Craig brothers have made many friends during their stay here, as they have always conducted themselves as gentlemen. Hardin Craig, we learn, has been honored by being chosen a teacher of English in Princeton University, which he attended last session.

ONE DOLLAR.—We were under the impression that nearly everybody in this section at least took the INTERIOR JOURNAL, but in two days after the announcement of the reduction in the subscription price to $1, 21 names not on the list before were added. We did not know that a dollar made such a difference, but we shall probably find it out ourselves in the effort to run a semi-weekly for the price of a weekly. We have never failed at a business undertaking yet, however, and if we do not come out this time at the big end of the horn, it will not be from the lack of effort, and nobody else will be the loser but us. We are not here today and gone tomorrow, and nobody doubts when he planks his money down that he will not get value received, and the paper regularly to the time that he paid for.

THE Decoration Day program here was nicely carried out. The young ladies had provided a sufficiency of flowers and looked themselves as pretty as their offerings as they drove in the decorated wagonette to the cemetery. Both the Federal and Confederate veterans selected Capt. W. B. Penny for grand marshal with the title of colonel and he looked every inch a general as he sat beside his fiery steed and led the column. Following the Federals and Confederates came Company B., of the 6th U. S. Volunteers, which recently saw service in Porto Rico, under command of Capt. Thomas A. Davis, and though they were small in number, attracted much attention for their soldierly bearing and pretty uniforms. Arriving at Buffalo Springs Cemetery, the choir of 20 voices led by A. A. Warren to an organ accompaniment by Miss Myrtle Hughes, sang "The Star Spangled Banner" and then Rev. J. B. Crouch led in prayer. "My Country 'Tis of Thee" was next sung and Mr. P. M. McRoberts delivered a beautifully worded and appropriate address. The strains of "Some Sweet Day" filled the air with melody and Mr. J. R. Bush was introduced, when he made an address which was complimented on all sides. "The Red White and Blue" was sung with zest and Judge J. W. Aleorn presented Capt. W. J. Stone to speak in his stead. For 10 minutes the gallant Confederate spoke with eloquence and earnestness of the deeds of valor of our soldier dead and impressed every one that he was a man among men. "Hail Columbia" then stirred the audience and Rev. A. J. Daugherty responded to calls and spoke touchingly and feelingly. Flowers were then strewn on the graves of soldiers of every war since the revolution, including that, and the beautiful ceremonies of the day were over.

In the afternoon the colored veterans honored their dead. Elijah Baughman was officer of the day and Thomas Burdett and Caleb Root read fancy stories. In the line of march were 18 veterans and they were followed by their sons carrying flags and their daughters in a wagon loaded with flowers. At the cemetery Rev. Walter Lackey, Thomas Burdett and others made addresses and then the soldiers graves were bestrewn with flowers. The post made a very creditable showing and honored itself by honoring its dead. Aaron Givens is commander of this post.

THE Knights of Pythias elected the following officers last night: Jack Rout, C. C.; J. D. Wearren, V. C.; T. T. Lackey, P.; Logan Wood, M. A.; John Hendren, M. W.; John H. Meier, P. C. and district deputy.

OUR boys defeated the Crab Orchard base ball team there Tuesday by a score of 21 to 8. The batteries were for Stanford, Geer and Florence; for Crab Orchard, Holdman and Conder. This makes the 6th game they have won, out of seven games played. By an oversight our reporter failed to give us a notice of the game between our club and Hustonville, which it beat 12 to 11, making three straight beats on them. The Lancasters will come over this evening to see what they can do with the invincibles.

THE Wilson murder trial at London is at last over, the 16 hours to the side having ended last night when it went to the jury. It was proven that two of the regular jury panel were offered bribes and that one of the commissioners had furnished Wilson with a list of the jurors for the term. Wilson swore he was as innocent of the crime as a new born babe, and leading citizens of the town swore that Wilson was an all round bad man. The trial of the case seems to have been a most scandalous one and the result will likely be an acquittal.

DECORATION DAY AT MIDDLEBURG.

A crowd variously estimated at from 2,000 to 3,500 attended the Decoration day exercises at Middleburg Tuesday and spent a day of genuine pleasure. An abundance to eat and of the very best was on the grounds and if anybody went away hungry it was his own fault. The I. J. pilgrim got there a little late, but it was only a few seconds until he was captured by clever Jason Wesley and taken to a table literally groaning under the weight of good things.

Oratory was almost as abundant as food and there wasn't much left to tell when Hon. Vincent Boreing, T. M. Goodknight, Judge James Denton, Judge J. B. Belden and Elder J. Q. Montgomery got through. All did well and made their hearers feel that it was good to be there. Mrs. T. M. Goodknight favored the crowd with the rendition of "The Blue and the Gray," which was loudly applauded.

Perfect order was kept and nothing happened to mar the pleasure of the occasion, except a shower or two, which didn't bother much. Every home in Middleburg was thrown open to the visitors and old Kentucky hospitality was the order of the day.

After Mr. Boreing's speech the graves were decorated and the crowd fell in line and marched back to the grounds, headed by the Middleburg band, which furnished music. Dinner was announced and for an hour or so the wants of the inner man were attended to in the most approved style.

Mr. Joab Rigney, who is never happier than when mingling with his old comrades, was in his glory and did much to make the occasion the success it was. Mr. Harve McAninch is also deserving of much praise for his interest in the welfare of those who came from a distance.

I found a goodly number of people ready and anxious to take the "cheapest and best" at $1 a year and I was rewarded in that way also for my lengthy drive. Casey county people know a good thing and don't let such bargains as the I. J. at that price pass. A staunch republican promised to send on a good list of subscribers because of the reduction, while a democratic friend declared that everybody in the world ought to take it at that price.

CHURCHES AND PREACHERS.

The Southern Theological seminary at Louisville turned out 185 preachers this session.

A Baptist preacher at Madison, Ind., has resigned his pastorate in order to become a Mormon missionary.

Elder J. Q. Montgomery will preach the dedicatory sermon of the Neatsburg Christian church, near Columbia, Sunday week.

It is stated that among several positions offered to Dr. W. H. Whitsett is a $4,000 professorship in the University of Chicago.

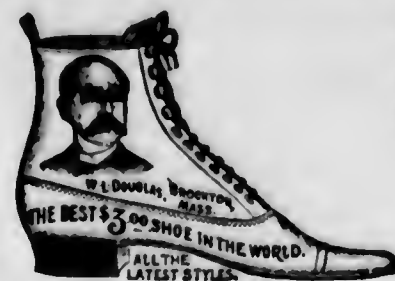

Delegates to the Baptist General Association at Mt. Sterling, June 17, are asked to send their names to Mr. T. G. Denton, that their homes may be assigned.

Rev. W. M. Britt says that the meetings conducted by Rev. Clarence B. Strouse at Harrodsburg, are creating great interest and that the preacher is a man of great force. Unless his health improves, Mr. Britt says he will be unable to hold the promised meeting here, much to the church's regret.

REMARKABLE RESCUE.

Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs, she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption, and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself breathing free from that time. She continued its use and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and well, now does her own housework, and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottle of this Great Discovery at Penny's Drug Store. Only 50 cents and $1, every bottle guaranteed.

Strawberries are selling at 5c a box. Much of the corn has come up badly, owing to defective seed. Sale of 105 lambs at $1 is reported.—Georgetown Times.
